Go Up - Building resilience and enhancing the intercultural competencies of refugees and asylum seekers through theatre techniques

About the project

Go Up project - Building resilience and enhancing the intercultural competencies of refugees and asylum seekers through theatre techniques – pursues to improve the inclusive education by offering innovative approaches and contents.

The Theatre of the Oppressed has proved for decades its effectiveness addressing the social and psychological effects associated with social vulnerability.

This Erasmus Plus Strategic Partnership aims to boost the participation of refugees, asylum seekers and migrants in adult education supporting teachers, educators and counsellors with tailor made innovative methodologies and tools designed to build resilience and enhance intercultural competencies through theatre

Objectives

- Provide innovative approaches and contents about Intercultural and Inclusive theatre to enhance inclusive education
- Improve the skills that adult teachers, trainers, tutors and counsellors require to effectively support the intercultural integration of refugees, asylum seekers and migrants
- Encourage refugees, asylum seekers and migrants participation in adult education programmes
